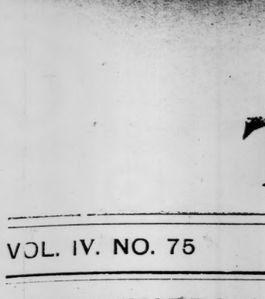
ASTIGMATISM.



What it is, and How Corrected.

Astigmatism or Irregular Vision is one of the most common of all the refractive errors. It is due to the irregular curvature of the film known as the Cornea. Of course no instrument is sufficient to correct it, but in the hands of a thoroughly efficient and competent Eye special ist the ophthalmometer reveals the exact condition of the eye in a way that nothing else can. If your eyes need attention have DR. J. T. JOHNSON to put them under this wonderful instrument. Office hours 8:30 to 1:30; 2 to 6. 302½ S. Elm St.

SHOBER-GORHAM NUPTIALS.

When the hour for the Shober-Gorham wedding came this morning, the First Presbyterian church was packed. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with evergreens, lilies and other flowers, and the scene in the church was a lovely one.

At 11 o'clock Miss Lizzie Langhorne arose behind the flowers and sang, in her pure, sweet voice, "Because I Love You, Dear." At the conclusion of the song, the wedding party began the march from the vestibules to the altar, Prof. Parker playing a lovely march. The ushers, Messrs. Manny Tate, of this city, L. C. Burwell, of Charlotte, —— McCutchin, of Cincinnati, and Chas. P. Sellars, of this city, entered in pairs, crossing in front of the pulpit. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Vivian Shober, with the bride and little Misses Hartsell and Walsh, the flower girls. The groom, with his best man, Mr. J. S. Cothran, of Charlotte, entered from the choir room, and met the bride and maid at the foot of the aisle. The bride and groom turned to the altar, and Dr. E. W. Smith performed the ceremony in beautiful and impressive words. The services over, the party marched out and were driven immediately to the station, where, after receiving the congratulations and best wishes of scores of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Gorham boarded the 12:06 train for the north. After visiting Washington, Baltimore and New York, they will return south as far as Atlanta, where they will spend a week before going to Charlotte, their future home.

As a result of this marriage Greensboro loses one of her most popular and charming daughters. She carries with her the love and best wishes of all who knew her. Mr. Gorham is law agent for the Southern in Charlotte, and is a young man of ability, honor and many gentlemanly qualities.

THE WAR OF THE ROSES.

Fought Over By Fair and Frail Soldiers Last Night.

The entertainment in the McAdoo building last under the Telephone Exchange, by the ladies of St. Barnabas church was very beautiful, and represented the struggle of the two houses of the royal blood—not for the crown, but for the nickels. The House of York was represented by the members of Altar Guild who wore white roses and dresses. The Ladies Aid Society fought for the House of Lancaster, and were dressed in dark, with blushing roses upon their bosoms. The former served the cream and light-colored refreshments, while the latter dispensed the strawberries and darker refreshments.

Music was furnished by Prof. Clarence R. Brown and some of his pupils together with a number of the members of St. Barnabas church choir.

The House of York, or the ladies of the Altar Guild, won the contest—which amounted to taking in more cash than the other faction. About $25 was realized, which goes to a worthy cause.

The occasion was very beautiful.

IMPORTANT TO VOTERS.

Instructions in Regard to Friday Night's Meeting.

At a meeting of the democratic executive committee held Wednesday the following resolution was passed:

Be it Resolved, That in order to avoid confusion and to have an absolutely fair expression of the will of the democratic voters at the general meeting in the court house on Friday night April 28th, it is the sense of the executive committee that each ward assemble together in a portion of the house assigned to it. That each ward have a chairman and tellers, and that each ward cast its vote for mayor and announce it to the chairman of the meeting through the chairman of the ward.

THE MEETING LAST NIGHT,

The Anonymous Call Receives a Rousing Answer.

NO ONE KNEW WHO CALLED IT,

But it Bore Unmistakable Ear Marks. Street Rumors and Their Force In City Politics.

Circulars were scattered over the city yesterday afternoon calling a meeting of democrats at the court house last night. From the character of the matter contained in the dodgers it was apparent that the meeting had been called by anti-dispensary men, though no names were signed to them. However, a court house full of democrats responded. The meeting was called to order by D. Schenck, Jr., who nominated John L. King as chairman. Jno. M. Hammer was chosen secretary and members of the democratic press were made assistants. Mr. King stated that he hardly knew the object of the meeting, but said that there were street rumors to the effect that a few persons had shown a disposition to make slates for mayor and aldermen and he supposed the meeting was called to discuss matters and condemn such proceedings. The chairman declared the meeting ready for business and Mr. D. Schenck, Jr., arose and recited his position on the dispensary, stating that the legislature had, as he believed, passed the law without the full sanction of the democratic party. He was informed that secret meetings had been held by the dispensary men and had heard street rumors as to what had been the deliberations in those meetings. He understood that petitions had been circulated asking people to refrain from voting for certain persons. He attacked the executive committee on the ground that some of them were gold bugs and called on God to forbid that they should stay there long. He then offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the democrats of Greensboro condemn the dispensary as a party measure and regret that it has been drawn into our municipal party politics.

Mr. L. M. Scott stated his position and said he was opposed to the dispensary and hoped the legislature would not pass it. He thought the business was in good hands and should remain as it was; but he hoped now that it was law, it would succeed. He was not present seeking the nomination for mayor, but was willing to serve his friends if they wanted him. He said in effect, if not in words, that if the ticket nominated suits you vote it, if not, vote for whom you please. This was regarded as notice of a probable bolt.

Mr. A. M. Scales arose and when he addressed the chair his voice was recognized and a storm of applause greeted him. He stated that the regularly appointed democratic executive committee had called the primaries and the convention. He was interrupted by Mr. Schenck who questioned the democracy of some of the committee and replied in a manner that satisfied those present, or at least a majority of them. Mr. Scales said he was in the so-called secret meetings, and that they were called in response to street rumors that the anti-dispensary people were trying to split the party and elect a solid board who would defeat the workings of the dispensary, and denied that any mention had been made of trying to defeat Capt. Ellington or Mr. Sergeant as some of the posters charged. He said the resolution ought to be voted down.

Mr. J. W. Forbis then took the floor and made a warm, earnest speech in the interest of party unity and harmony and urged Mr. Schenck to withdraw the resolution.

Mr. Schenck spoke again and insisted that he is a loyal democrat.

Mr. J. N. Wilson told of the dispensary fight before the legislature and why he submitted the matter to a primary. He was interrupted by Mr. R. R. King and questioned as to the mile limit, etc., all of which was answered in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Ireland earnestly plead for harmony and said we must be united for the upbuilding of Greensboro.

Mayor Taylor made a ringing speech which was well received and showed the manliness of his position. In contrast with the speech of Mr. Scott he said he was a candidate before the democratic convention and would abide its decision and support the nominee with all his might. This sentiment was loudly applauded.

'Squire Wolfe wanted to know if the dispensary was not a party measure why the resolution should not pass.

Capt. Browne explained the grounds for the fuss concerning the dropping of Capt. Ellington.

Mr. R. R. King did come to make a speech. He was a democrat and had always been one. He said the rumors of what the dispensary men were doing had reached his ears and his comment was: "Give the fools rope and they will kill themselves." He spoke of the leaders of the dispensary movement as a small crowd, one which he could count on the fingers of his two hands. Among them were some who were so far off as to be fanatical and the great majority of the dispensary advocates were the dupes of men who were hunting jobs. "If we don't" said Mr. King, "elect a board of aldermen in whom I have confidence, I shall raise my voice against the proposed bond issue."

Mr. Forbis rose again and asked Mr. King to join him in making a request of Mr. Schenck to withdraw the resolution. Mr. King replied: "You are too partizan, Mr. Forbis, I am a broader man than you." This insult aroused some feeling but Mr. King apologized and the matter was dropped.

Mr. McAlister offered the following as a substitute to the original resolution:

Resolved, That no issue shall be brought into the coming election except that of good government by the democracy of Greensboro.

Mr. C. G. Wright spoke on the resolution and said there were other things to be considered besides the dispensary. The proposed bond issue for city improvement is paramount. No man can serve two masters. There are corporations which have interests here and are represented by men who profess to have the best interest of the city at heart. Such influences as these will try to defeat the bond issue, at the same time claim great friendship for the city. This speech was interspersed with happy and humorous hits.

The previous question was called and Mr. McAlister insisted that his should be submitted first. The chairman overruled him and a motion to table Mr. Schenck's resolution was carried. Mr. McAlister's resolution was then adopted.

The meeting then adjourned.

New York, April 27—Jame Creelman cables the Journal from Manila that Aguinaldo is conferring with his cabinet in regard to making terms with the Americans.

UNEASINESS AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 27—The postponement of decisive operations against Calumpit for at least twenty-four hours has increased the feeling of suspense and expectancy which has prevailed for the last few days. Yesterday it was thought would bring conclusive results of the campaign in the region around Aguinaldo's headquarters. The onward march of Lawton, however, has been attended with great difficulty and hardship. He reached Norzagary a little too late apparently to assist McArthur's forces in an effective joint attack.

Some anxiety is felt over the possibility of Lawton's force being out of supplies.

MISS LANGHORNE'S VOICE.

Its Remarkable Sweetness Demonstrated at Shober-Gorham Wedding.

The music lovers of Greensboro, who have for so long a time desired to hear Miss Langhorne sing, had this pleasure for the first time at the Shober-Gorham wedding this morning.

No more appropriate song could have been chosen than the one she sang, entitled "Because I Love You, Dear," and the rendition of it was so perfect that the great audience was held completely spell-bound while the singer, with rare grace and ease, seemed to forget herself and her admiring audience, while she threw her whole soul and being into the theme of love's old sweet song, with such rare expression and talent as is seldom seen and heard in Greensboro.

Miss Langhorne has a strong soprano voice, which can fill a large auditorium without the slightest effort; a voice of unusual sweetness and sympathy of expression, and the music-loving people of Greensboro will always look forward to an opportunity to hear her.

Card of Thanks.

"Another success for the ladies of St. Barnabas church," was the unanimous voice of society, which was out in full force last evening to witness and take part in their "War of the Roses."

About $25 was cleared, and now, through the never-failing courtesy of their proven friend, the Telegram, they wish to express their thanks to that paper, the Messrs. McAdoo for the use of their hall, Prof. Brown and his gifted and accommodating pupils and assistants, who rendered such delight to the occasion; to the Odd Fellows, Mr. John B. Wright, Messrs. Bendheim, Belk Bros., Hendrix & Co., and C. O. Forbis & Co., for their kindly help towards decoration and service, as well as to each and all who so generously contested for the white or the red, and yielded so gracefully to the white rose victors, who were only a trifle ahead in their receipts for the common cause—the good work of the Altar Guild and the Ladies' Aid Society.

Arrived With 356 Bodies.

New York, April 26—The United States transport Crook arrived today from Ponce, Santiago and Grantanamo, with 356 bodies of soldiers and marines who were killed in battle or died in Porto Rico and Cuba. Captain Tayman, United States quartermaster in charge, reports that the Crook brought from Porto Rico 98, Santiago 246, and Grantanamo 12, making 356.

PENSION APPOINTMENTS

Will be Made Solely Upon the Fitness of the Applicants.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, April 27—Director Merriam, of the census bureau, was seen the other day. He is evidently very much in earnest in his wish to conduct the twelfth census on business-like methods, and to remove the office, as far as possible, from partisan influences. If he can avoid it, he will not make the census bureau an asylum or a refuge for persons who are not competent, merely because they happen to possess political backing. Although the census bureau is not included under the civil service laws, the director says that the appointments will be made solely upon the ground of the applicant's fitness and competency for the place he seeks. By this, of course, he does not mean that the recommendations of senators and representatives will not be accepted, for he has personally urged several members of both the senate and house—democrats as well as republicans—to take care to select for appointment the very best material obtainable. Director Merriam is a firm believer in the policy of conducting a public office upon business-like methods.

In speaking of the appointment of supervisors and enumerators, the director has given assurances that democrats as well as republicans will be appointed. In Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, and Mississippi, the democrats will be given their full share of appointments, and many of the democratic congressmen from those states have been invited to name good men, irrespective of party, for appointment. It is not known what will be done in North Carolina, but Mr. Merriam believes that in that state also several democrats will be given positions. The appointment of democrats will, of course, be confined principally to the south. In some of the states they will be given fifty per cent of the appointments. In the north the appointees will be mostly republicans.

On account of the recent speech of Captain Coghlan, it is thought by some of the officials at the navy department that it is very probable that he will not command the Raleigh on its trip south to Wilmington, North Carolina, nor to Charleston, on the occasion of the great Confederate reunion.

Other officials at the department say, however, that if the captain is merely reprimanded for his alledged indiscreet utterances, that there will be nothing to prevent him from going with his vessel south, as he will probably not be suspended from duty as a naval officer.

The case of the city of Richmond, petitioner against the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, was before the supreme court Tuesday afternoon. Argument was continued for the city of Richmond by C. V. Meredith; for the telephone company by Mr. Hill Carter, of Richmond, and Mr. A. L. Holladay, and was concluded for the city of Richmond by the well known Virginia attorney, Henry R. Pollard.

Among Georgia Senators and representatives there is a strong feeling that Bryan may not get the vote of the delegation in the next national democratic convention. The sentiment against Bryan is apparently also as strong in South Carolina, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. Senator Clay, who is in the city, frankly admits that as for himself he has not made up his mind whom he will support for the nomination, and Representative Livingston, of Georgia, says that there is a strong sentiment for Gorman. The opposition to Bryan among eastern democrats appears to be as strong, though less active than in 1896.

Hon. Oliver H. Dockery, of North Carolina, who is contesting the seat of Representative-elect Bellamy, hopes to make such a showing in his contset that the house, if it does not seat him, will at least declare the November election in his district null and void, and will order a new election.

Postmasters have been commissioned in North Carolina as follows: Emma Brown, Dyson; James M. Maynard, Ruff; George E. Stevenson, Shawboro; and John W. R. McDonald, Villanow.

Among North Carolina people in Washington are C. W. Peebles, of Haxifax; J. N. Walker, and J. A. Ruffin.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1899.

The Filipinos have made their 279th last stand at Calumpit. The next one will be announced later on.

The truth is that, unless the natives can be prevented from obtaining ammunition, the conquest of the islands will be long drawn out.—Charlotte Observer.

And that chain of "linked sweetness" has already been broken.

The announcement has been given out that His Imperial Jaggs Billie McKinley was confined to his wigwam with illness. Later, we have been pleased to learn that only neuralgia was the trouble. We were afraid it was an acute attack of expansion.

Where are Lieutenant Gilmore and his fourteen marine companions who were ambushed, captured or lost on the Island of Luzon? Where are they, Dewey? Where, Otis? Echo answers —where! The incident of the lost colony on Roanoke Island finds its counterpart.

Charity had a noble friend in the late Baroness de Hirsh. She died a few weeks since and at her death bequeathed her entire estate, valued at $100,000,000, to the charitable institutions which she had cherished in her lifetime. Woman has made the highest record of benevolence, as this is said to be the largest single donation ever made to charity.

The Rev. Dr. Parker, an alleged divine of London, has startled the world ago by his remarkable denunciatory sermon of the Prince of Wales and the Czar of Russia, delivered a few days ago. We know of many an obscure minister who could also gain great celebrity by employing a few oaths in the pulpit of the dimensions of that one used by Dr. Parker.

Some features of the meeting at the court house last night suggested the following pathetic lines:

Who killed Cock Robin?
"I," said the Sparrow, "with my bow and arrow,
I killed Cock Robin"

Who saw him die?
"I," said the Fly, "with my little eye,
I saw him die."

Once upon a time a bull tried to stop a railroad train. The bull showed good grit, but poor judgment.

Nobody with good common sense and a strain of Americanism in him blames Captain Coghlan or his extraordinary speech at the New York banquet which has aroused so much comment all over the country. Though the officer's tongue was no doubt loosed by too much wine, he said nothing but the truth and no more than anybody else would have said, and we have a much juster excuse to lick Germany because she don't like it than we are armed with in our destruction of the Filipinos.

The esteemed Raleigh Times-Visitor thus administers to us a gentle rebuke:

The Greensboro Telegram is one of our most esteemed exchanges and has a deserved reputation for fairness, hence we regret exceedingly to read the following editorial in that paper:

"Captain Coghlan, of the cruiser Raleigh, is just a little bit too loyal. He got gloriously drunk at the New York banquet the other night and paid his respects to the Germans to such an extent that the German ambassador is demanding an apology of our government Send the Raleigh to the North Sea."

We are sure that the Telegram spoke hastily. If the editor had read Capt. Coghlan's speech he would see that the Captain only repeated historical facts and if any insult was offered to Germany Admiral Dewey was the insultor when he told the German commander that his patience was exhausted and it was time for them to settle whether the German or the United States ships were blockading Manila bay. The Telegram has in our opinion done Capt. Coghlan an injustice. We do not know how much punch Capt. Coghlan drank, but even if he was drunk (which we do not believe and never saw charged before) he showed that he could tell the truth as well drunk as sober.

We are really constrained to believe that our contemporary is in dead earnest about this thing when we recall that its entire editorial space was sacrificed to a reproduction of the gallant captain's speech.

A TWO HOUR BREAKFAST.

It Is One of the Institutions of New Orleans.

There is a place in New Orleans that strangers are always glad to have pointed out—Begeuy's, over in the French quarter, kept by Mme. Begeuy (pronounced Bigaay, with the accent on the last syllable), and famous for the breakfasts it serves at 11 o'clock every morning.

Originally this breakfast was intended for the butchers, and they contributed to it the daintiest meats that the splendid French market in New Orleans provided from day to day. Gradually outsiders began to come in, and now one must engage a seat at breakfast two days ahead. The morning the writer was there a distinguished judge of the supreme court was the principal visitor, and he, with his family and several guests from Boston, sat at the head of the table.

One long table occupies the little dining room, to which one climbs by a rickety flight of stairs. Every Frenchman, when he gets up, takes a cup of coffee and a roll, and at 11 o'clock eats his real breakfast. This is the meal that Mme. Begeuy serves, and it costs $1 The kitchen is right off of the dining room, and there is no pretense of adornment. Everything is as plain and simple as it can be, excepting the food, and this is the perfection of the gastronomic art. A bottle of claret stood at each place, which, with water imported from Germany and called "blue label," was all there was to drink until the little cup of black coffee finished the repast.

The first thing served was duck. It was excellent, and so was everything else included in the eight or nine courses that came on, and that concluded, singularly enough, with liver, so cooked that the only regret was that the piece was not larger. It takes two hours to eat a breakfast at Begeuy's, and you get enough to last you for all day.—Leslie's Weekly.

A GRIM CEREMONY.

An Emperor's Death Hastened by Rehearsing His Own Funeral.

Emperor Charles V of Spain brought about his death by rehearsing his own funeral. For the last two years of his life, after resigning the scepter of Spain and the Netherlands to his son Philip, in 1556, Charles retired to the monastery of Yuste in Estremadura, and there lived a cloister life in close intercourse with the monks, devoting much time to religious exercises. During this period, prompted it may be by the example of Cardinal de la Marck, who for several years before his death, in 1528, had annually rehearsed his own obsequies, the emperor, in the summer of 1558, formed the resolution to celebrate his own funeral before he died.

Accordingly, on Aug. 30 of that year, the grim farce was carried out with the most elaborate ceremonial. The imperial domestics marched with black tapers in their hands, and the emperor, clad in sable weeds, himself followed, wearing his shroud. While the solemn mass for the dead was sung before the high altar in the cathedral Charles gave up his taper to the priest, typifying thereby his resignation of life, and was solemnly laid in his coffin. The ceremony closed with sprinkling holy water on his body; then, all the attendants retiring, the doors were shut, and Charles rose from his narrow bed and withdrew to his private apartment.

The damping of the graveclothes induced a chill, which, aided no doubt by the mental depression caused by the grewsome ceremony, induced a fever which ended in his death three weeks later, on the 21st of September, 1588.

A Missing Link.

It will doubtless surprise many who have never even heard of the brute that there still exists on the island of Java an animal, or rather a reptile, which seems to be the missing link between the ichthyosauri of prehistoric days and the well known saurians of modern times.

This animal is known to the Javanese as "linguin." It fell to the luck of Baron Alfonso Pereira, consul general of Austria-Hungary, to shoot one of these beasts some years ago. Its length was between nine and ten feet, and it looked a cross between a snake and a crocodile. Though the beast was cut and wounded in its encounter with Baron Pereira it did not bleed.

Pennsylvania Sand Mines.

There are all kinds of mines in Pennsylvania. The greatest are of course the iron and coal mines, but few people would guess that the next extensive mining industry is the sand mines in western Pennsylvania. These mines are rarely underground, however, and many of them are viewed with wonder by passengers on the Pennsylvania, approaching Pittsburg. Whole mountains are being dug away, and the granular rocks forming them are being reduced to sand for the manufacture of glass in and about Pittsburg.—Philadelphia Call.

The Omnipresent Rose.

Every continent on the globe, with the exception of Australia, produces wild roses. There can be little doubt that the rose is one of the oldest flowers in the world and, perhaps, grown from the wind blown seeds in Paradise.

In Egypt it is depicted on numbers of early bas-reliefs, dating from 3000 to 3500 B. C. Rosewater, or the essence of roses, is mentioned by Homer in the "Iliad," and the flower is spoken of in the Proverbs of Solomon.

Lamblike Resignation.

Charles Lamb, when reminded by his sisters of the days when they were poor and capable of enjoying the smallest treat with the keenest relish, so different from the days when they were rich and surfeited, said, "Well, Mary, since we are in easy circumstances we must endeavor to put up with it."

IN A FIRE AT NIGHT.

A DRUMMER'S EXPERIENCE IN A BLAZING HOTEL.

What He Had Planned to Do In Just Such a Contingency and What He Really Did When the Opportunity Offered Itself.

"It's queer—not to say a source of chagrin—the difference between our intentions and our performances, isn't it?" said a commercial traveler at one of the hotels the other night. "I was in the Hotel Baldwin fire in San Francisco and lost everything I had along with me, including a thousand and odd dollars' worth of jewelry and all of my sample cases but one, and I was glad to get out with my life at that. It was the first hotel fire in which I had figured. I had often mentally calculated upon what I should do in case a hotel in which I was a guest should begin to conflagrate. I was going to be the coolest headed man within a radius of many miles. If the fire should break out in the middle of the night while I was in bed, I intended to get up very coolly upon being awakened, deliberately slip on enough clothing to keep me out of the hands of the police upon making my appearance, get my money and then pick up my most valuable sample case and the valise in which I had packed articles of clothing in current use and walk out, leaving the rest of my gear to take its chance upon the fire being squelched. On my way through the corridors, in case I met up with any beautiful, supplicating maidens or any aged, incapable women, I had it all pictured how I would drop my two grips and take them down the seething staircase, one on each arm, presenting a heroic and inspiring spectacle as I emerged from the caldron of flame.

"Well, what happened? Luckily for me, I had a third story front room in the Baldwin. The fire broke out in the basement along toward 8 o'clock in the morning. I snored luxuriously until about a dozen engines were throwing streams on the lower portion of the structure. When I was in the middle of a dream that I was standing in front of a lot of big stores on a great business thoroughfare, throwing croquet balls through huge plate glass windows—it was the smashing glass down below that got me into that strain of dreaming—I woke up. The glare in my room was something luminous. Did I slowly stretch, say to myself, 'Here's that long waited for fire, and it's up to me to be the man of the hour and the real thing?'

"Not much did I! I just hopped up like a man who finds a family of centipeds in his bed. I grabbed a pair of rubbers that were lying alongside my bed and put them on the wrong feet, giving all the time during the performance a realistic exhibition of a man undergoing a swamp thill. Then I snatched a mackintosh that I had thrown over my trunk on coming in the night before and folded it after considerable difficulty, owing to my chill tremblings, over my pyjamas. Then I reached for a hat, and of course it was about my luck to get the worst hat I owned out of half a dozen scattered over the room. Then I made for the door. I want you to understand that I made for the door in a hurry too.

"On my way to the door I stumbled over one of my sample cases and kicked it over in front of the door. I had to pick it up in order to open the door, and so I hung on to it and took it along with me. I afterward found it to be the least consequential sample case I had, one that I could very easily have dispensed with compared with those that I lost. Jewelry? Money? Duds? I wasn't thinking any more of them when I frantically unlocked and unbarred that door of mine than I was of taking a balloon before breakfast in the morning and starting for the north pole. I just wanted to get out, that's all. The halls were filled with smoke, I found, but after ten years of stopping annually at the Baldwin, generally in the same room, I knew the stairways and the route down to the lobby pretty well, and I just put my free hand over my mouth and nose and made the rush.

"D'ye suppose that if I had met 40 of the most beautiful maidens on the globe—supplicating, imploring maidens—standing there confused in that third floor hallway I'd have picked 'em up one in each arm and, permitting them to gently nestle up against my mackintosh, have carried them triumphantly down the stairs and out into the street and under the broad arch of heaven and all that? No, I wouldn't have. It's grievous and grewsome to have to confess it, but I'd just have yelled at them to follow my route and then have kept on getting over territory myself. I fell down the first flight of stairs, from top to bottom, then picked myself up with the one idea of getting out, scampered to the head of the second flight of stairs and fell down those. I lit on the flagging of the lobby, and in two more seconds I was in the street. When, a few minutes later, I reflected upon my loss and the general hamlike character of my conduct, did I want to go back and get my things and do the whole thing over again right and in accordance with my preconceived intentions in case of a hotel fire? Nope. I was content to stand there in the street and figure how I'd perform the next time I got similarly caught."—Washington Star.

An Undertaking.

"Isabel, does your husband get angry when he tells you to wake him early and you don't do it?"

"No, dear. He knows that I know he doesn't mean it."—Chicago Record.

Brass and Iron Bed Steads.

How many persons realize that in a small bedroom a Brass or Iron Bed does not seem more than two-thirds as large as a wooden one of the same size. Here is one great cause for the popularity of brass and iron beds. Then, too,

They Are So Airy and Open

that they afford much better ventilation. They do not enclose the sleeper with wooden walls, shutting off all circulation of air, but there is an open frame giving the utmost ventilation. All the world knows their intrinsic cleanliness. They are as neat as wax, as clean as snow. If properly lacquered they will retain their high lustre for years.

We show the largest variety of styles and designs of any house in Greensboro and our prices will be found lower for the same grade of goods.

MURDER NEAR WILSON.

Theodore Turnage Killed at His Uncle's Store.

Wilson, N. C, April 24—Last night some fiend went to the store of Theodore Turnage, about eighteen miles from this place, and killed Mr. Bob Turnage, who was clerking for his uncle, Theodore Turnage. About midnight some one discovered that the store was on fire, and upon rushing to the scene a ghastly spectacle was presented, for in the store room, stretched upon the floor was seen the limp and lifeless body of young Bob Turnage weltering in blood and with his throat cut from ear to ear. It is thought he was aroused and induced to open the store door, when his assailant cut his throat, robbed the store and then set the building on fire with the hope that the body would be destroyed with it. No clue, but bloodhounds are on the trail.—Special to News and Observer.

Ominous in the Transvaal.

New York, April 26—The Journal today prints the following, dated Capetown, April 26:

There is renewed uneasiness over the situatian in the Transvaal.

President Kruger's general-in-chief, Joubert, is inspecting the frontiers and selecting places suitable for entrenchments.

More rigid inspection of the military has also been ordered.

Kruger, as he intimated a month ago, evidently is expecting hostilities with England.

The Dutchmen are uneasy over the result of the petition to Joseph Chamberlain, England's colonial minister, signed by 21,000 English residents in the Transvaal, and setting forth their grievances. Chamberlain's action, it is believed, will mark a crisis in English-Dutch relations.

The British army here is being steadily augmented.

Rheumatism Cured.

My wife has used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with great relief, and I can recommend it as a splendid liniment for rheumatism and other household use for which we have found it valuable.—W. J. Cuyler, Red Creek, N. Y.

Mr. Cuyler is one of the leading merchants of this village and one of the most prominent men in this vicinity. —W. G. Phippin, Editor Red Creek Herald. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Judge Rowe, of Little Rock, Ark., has enjoined railroads from hauling men to Huntington to take the places of striking miners.

If you suffer from tenderness or fullness on the right side, pains under shoulder-blade, constipation, biliousness, sick-headache, and feel dull, heavy and sleepy, your liver is torpid and congested. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will cure you promptly, pleasantly and permanently by removing the congestion and causing the bile ducts to open and flow naturally. They are good pills. Howard Gardner.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Marshal J. M. Milliken went to Ashboro this morning.

George R. Quincey, of Mt. Airy, was in the city yesterday.

R. J. Reynolds, of Winston, passed through this morning en route to Danville.

Rev. J. E. Schoolfield, of Danville, spent yesterday afternoon at the McAdoo.

George P. Crutchfield left this morning for Spartanburg, S. C., on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jackson, of Culler, were in the city today, stopping at the McAdoo.

Frank Hege, of Winston, passed through the city last night en route to Raleigh. He took supper at the Allen.

W. H. Belk, of Charlotte, a member of the firm of Harry & Belk Brothers, this city, came up last night on business.

Miss Ella Tucker, who has been visiting relatives in the city for several days, returned to her home in Concord this morning.

Dr. Charles D. McIver left this morning for Washington, N C., where he has been invited to speak on education. Washington is to hold a public school election on May 1st.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft-repeated experience of trust-worthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W.M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Samoan Commission Sails.

San Francisco, Cal., April 26—The United States dispatch boat Badger, with the Samoan commission on board sailed to-day for Apia. The steamer will probably stop at Honolulu for coal.

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea. I have never had to use more than one or two doses to cure the worst case with myself or children. —W. A. Stroud, Popomoke City, Md. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Action has been deferred by the Texas Legislature on the anti-trust bill until the constitutionality of the Arkansas law has been passed upon.

Little, neglected scratches and wounds frequently result in blood-poisoning. Better heal them quickly with DeWitt's Witch Havel Salve, a thoroughly anti-septic application with a record of always curing piles, old ulcers, sores, cuts, wounds and skin diseases. Howard Gardner.

Edward Scott is under arrest at Jamestown, N. Y., for stabbing his son, who had quarreled with his mother.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of the vital organs. If the liver is inactive you have a bilious look; if your stomach is disordered you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys are affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good alterative and tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys, purifies the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils, and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store. 50 cents per bottle.

Improving the Grades.

Prof. J. M. Bandy, than whom there is no more efficient civil engineer in the state, returned this morning from the northwestern portion of the county, where he has surveyed and established grades on the Hillsdale road from a point beyond where 'Squire Bevill used to live to Capt. Wall's, a distance of over one and one-half miles. The road runs through a hilly section, and has been so muddy the past winter that it could not be used. The old grade averaged eight to nine feet to the hundred. The new grades established by Prof. Bandy average three feet on the first section and two feet on the second. The convicts are now at work grading the road, and are doing good work. The first section will be completed tomorrow. There is great economy in doing work after a competent engineer and in the proper use of drain pipes, as in this instance.

First Iron is Good.

The first iron manufactured by the Empire Iron and Steel Company was taken from the furnace last night. There were between fifty and a hundred people out to see the first blast and it was a sight well worth going a mile to see. The quality of the iron was much better than had been expected and Manager Noble is well pleased with the first work. The most beautiful part of a blast, especially at night is a flame of fire shooting 10 feet out the top of the high stack, remaining so for about an hour and illuminating the fields for some distance around.

This Is Not What We Say,

But it is said by our patrons, again and again we hear it: "Always something new at Bendheim's." This is as it should be. Progressive merchants that we are, we have "always something new" hence the popularity we enjoy, hence the attraction to our store. Our immense output necessitates a constant inlet, and with such facilities for daily supplies our counters have always some new attraction — some sparkling novelty to arrest attention. An additional allurement is the power of price, which in all cases savors of economy.

Tomorrow Night.

Don't miss the First Regiment band concert tomorrow night at the Academy of Music. Loud praises are coming from all the places where they have been giving their concerts. Greensboro should do the right thing and give them a grand welcome home, as the other places are doing. It is said by those who have heard the band that it pleases the people more than any other band traveling in the south. The people should patronize it because it is our boys—the pride of the First regiment—and for the excellent music. Two Spanish band men are with them, from Cuba. The band will parade at 12 o'clock tomorrow. Admission, 25, 35 and 50 cents.
